I would enthusiastically support any action to reduce spam, particularly of a sexual nature I was away for a few days and when I returned I found that I had 23 messages promising to enlarge my penis, including one that promised $1000 if they failed Since I am a 78 year old lady I doubt they could have lived up to their promises. Think I made my mistake when I didn't sue them for false advertising Please do all you can to reduce unsolicited messages of any kind, my delete hand is wearing out Thank you
